World Distance Record Set by U.S. Jet Tanker

OMAHA (AP)—A sleek Air Force KC135 jet tanker landed at Lajes Field in the Azores at 10:25 a. m. (EST) today after a flight of 10,228 miles, a world distance record for jet aircraft.

The huge Stratotanker fell 1,250 miles short of its intended goal—Madrid—and an over-all world distance record after predicted jet-stream winds failed to materialize.

The jetstream velocity subsided north of Hawaii and never picked up sufficiently.

STREAKING eastward from Tokyo after taking off at 3:38 p. m. (EST) Monday, the plane booked a record flight of 13 hours and 35 minutes for the 7,662-mile flight to Washington, first leg of the trip.

Polluted Air Tied to Cancer

Smog Expert Outlines Lung Disorder Views

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Lung cancer is the product of several factors operating together, and cigarette smoking is only one of these, says a widely known smog researcher.

Polluted air is the dominant factor but there are things other than cancer agents in the atmosphere which play a part. An increasing susceptibility in the American population also is part of the picture, he said.

"If cigarettes were abolished, there would be a reduction in the number of deaths from lung cancer but this reduction would be a very minor one so far as the whole population is concerned," Dr. Paul Kotin told science writers on a tour sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Kotin is a pathologist at the University of Southern California and has long been associated with smog research.

The smog expert said he did not disagree with surveys by the cancer society and others showing that cigarette users develop lung cancer more than nonsmokers.

HE SAID, however, that less than 10 per cent of the two-pack-a-day smokers get lung cancer, and that no matter how many cigarettes they use they do not die any earlier than light smokers.

On the other hand, he said, other kinds of cancer have increased in proportion to the time people have been exposed to the causative agents. In the case of workers handling certain aniline dyes, which are cancer agents, malignancy developed in as high as 70 per cent of their ranks. Among English chimney sweeps, who developed an occupational type of cancer from soot, the figure was 40 per cent.

Toledoan Kills Brother

TOLEDO (AP)—Police said 41-year-old Ernest Smith shot and killed his brother, Everett, 25, in an argument Monday night in a house trailer. Another brother, Charles, 47, and their father, Charles, 68, also were in the trailer.

Berger Hospital Shows $6,233 Deficit during 1957

Berger Hospital, jointly owned by the City of Circleville and Pickaway County, lost $6,233.60 last year, according to Hospital Administrator Alva J. Williamson.

The financial report showed $318,900.08 in receipts and $325,142.68 in expenditures, thus the deficit. Williamson said the objective is to break even.

The major cause for the deficit is the loss of revenue incurred on room and ward charges. The rate for a ward bed is $11 per day while figures show the actual cost is $15.00, or a loss of $4.00 per day. For a semi-private room the charge is $13 while the cost is

The plane carried fuel for a 10,000-mile flight and the high altitude jetstream winds were expected to give it enough push to carry it on to Madrid.

But winds, ranging from more than 100 miles per hour to less than 25, lacked 18 miles an hour of a velocity sufficient to let the tanker make it all the way.

The craft was commanded by Brig. Gen. William E. Eubank, 45, who kept in constant radio contact with SAC headquarters here.

Twenty-one indictments and six no bills were returned by the Pickaway County Grand Jury which reported at noon today. The jurors passed one case until the next session.

Ronald Gary Mettler, 18, Route 1, Lockbourne, faces a charge of second degree manslaughter. He was involved in a fatal auto accident in which Lorring Eldridge, 16, Mound St., was killed February 22 on Route 22.

Others indicted include:

Jack Giffen, 32, Kingston, breaking and entering; Marvin Louis Stump, 18, Whisler, grand larceny; Thomas Hoskins, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent;

Forrest Bennett, 60, 535 S. Scioto St., operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated (OMVI); Lewis A. Brown, 47, Chillicothe, OMVI; Dee Ferguson, 41, Route 1, Stoutsville, forgery of an auto certificate;

The jury found no bill against Green Hall, who was charged with taking mortgaged property out of the state; Paul Jorgensen, 20, Columbus, who was charged with abandonment of a pregnant woman; James R. Richardson, 18, Columbus, forgery of an auto certificate;

Gene Giffen, 25, 229 Clinton St., cutting with intent to wound; Harold Imler, 39, 528 S. Scioto St., failure to provide for minor children; and Joe Maynard, 20, Pontiac, Mich., grand larceny.

The case of Raymond Resor, 39, Union City, Ind., was passed by the jury until next session. He faces a count of failure to provide for minor children.

The jury also made five secret indictments. It recommended that new chairs be placed in the jury room.

Judge William Ammer said the defendants would face arraignment at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Appeal Tied To 'Errors' In Almanac

COLUMBUS (AP)—Even the World Almanac can have its facts wrong, say attorneys in a brief on file in the Ohio Supreme Court.

The lawyers represent Roger J.

Rapport, a minor, of Cuyahoga County.

The youth asked the high court to review lower court decisions denying him damages from Erwin Levin. Roger said he suffered injuries when struck by an automobile door opened by Levin as the boy rode his bicycle on Oct. 18, 1953.

The boy contended the accident, which happened about 6 p.m., was during daytime and that the light on his bicycle was turned off. Levin intended it was dark.

The brief asking the Supreme Court to review the case said a lower court permitted Levin's attorney to read to the jury from the World Almanac that the sun

"was supposed to set" at 5:16

p.m. in Cleveland on the day of the accident. This convinced the jury that the boy was mistaken, the brief said. It added that up until that point, it was the boy's word against the man's on daylight or darkness.

Attorneys for the boy contended

the almanac "was wrong."

They asked the Supreme Court to take notice of records of the U.S. Naval Observatory. They said those records show sunset was at 5:42 p.m. on the accident date and that civil twilight ended at 6:10 p.m.

Unemployment Up by 25,000

Nation's Idle Total Now Is 5,198,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today unemployment rose by 25,000 in March. It took the total to 5,198,000, the highest in 16½ years.

The monthly report of the Commerce and Labor departments also showed a 323,000 rise in employment for March, taking the total of those at work to 62,311,000.

President Eisenhower said the figures indicate a slowing of the decline. He issued this statement:

"The figures released this morning by the departments of Commerce and Labor show a pickup in jobs in March and a leveling off of unemployment. These statistics indicate a slowing up of the decline."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty was asked by reporters whether this means the President thinks there is still a decline but at a slower rate. Hagerty replied that he was not going to go beyond the statement.

The report explained the increase in both employment and unemployment as resulting from seasonal increases in outdoor work. On the other hand, there were further cutbacks in the manufacturing employment.

With the opening of outdoor work opportunities, additional people come into the labor force.

The March unemployment tally is the highest since the 5,620,000 recorded in August 1941.

Although the detailed Commerce-Labor estimates showed a 25,000 jobless increase in March, Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell spoke of it in a news release as being unchanged from February.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty was asked whether this means the United States will need more nuclear tests after its Pacific explosions this spring and summer.

That is likely, Dulles said, in the quest for information needed for making smaller, cleaner nuclear bombs.

Dulles also told a news conference President Eisenhower's science advisers have revised upward U.S. estimates of the number of international inspection stations which would be needed to police a nuclear test ban inside Russia.

The President rejected a reporter's suggestion that, in view of Sputnik and other developments, the old Psychological Warfare Board be revived in the White House to develop ideas which would put this country in a favorable light.

But he added: "I do think that we could put possibly an individual probably in one of the departments, possibly State, where he could have that sole job to do. Maybe we have not exploited the recession".

He replied in this fashion to a Republican document calling garrison Americans for Democratic Action the intellectual and political vanguard of a "third force" it described as "laundered communism in white tie and tails".

The 68-page pamphlet, drafted by the staff of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said "ADA socialism takes the improvised socialism of the New Deal and attempts to organize it into a body of doctrine".

"But beneath the uplift lingo and the self-righteous accents, the doctrine is socialism—slow and deliberate social and economic paralytic; the chloroform of hope, pride, enterprise, self-respect, initiative, spontaneity, and individual liberty of thought and action".

The ADA describes itself as an independent political organization opposed to communism and other forms of totalitarianism.

Humphrey said the pamphlet looked like "a political supermarket from which Republican candidates can pick and choose".

Arrested for disturbing the peace, she pleaded innocent and the case was continued.

The husband? Not arrested.

Sen Humphrey Raps GOP Jab At ADA Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) challenged Republicans critics today to "quit beating the ADA and try to lick the recession".

Harold Hargus Rezoning Hearing Tonight

Public hearing on the Hargus Creek rezoning ordinance will be at 8 p.m. today in City Council chambers.

The ordinance in question calls for the rezoning of about nine acres of land, lying north of Hargus Creek and west of N. Pickaway St. on the east; Kimmel Alley on the north and Spring Alley on the west.

The rezoning matter was referred in January after a new Council for public hearing. The group seeking the rezoning is Councilman D. J. Carpenter. The Kro probably hasn't found anchorage, and resents the fact that he has with you.

As for what to do about Jim's wish to move back to his home state, I think it advisable to be open-minded about the idea. Now that parts of the past are coming to your attention, gradually, he may feel encouraged to pull his life together, into one piece, as it were.

Possibly he has been hiding out on the past, figuratively speaking, by living in this community, and trying to establish roots here, by buying a house. The fact that he wants you to meet and know his first-born daughter, and to settle with him in his native town, indicates that he cleaves to you as his "better half."

We are a Christian family and take part in church and community activities. Jim is a good provider; and doesn't smoke, drink or gamble. But he isn't attentive to the children or me, and never has helped me, not even when they were babies. I am sure he would say I am a good wife and mother.

He does only what he wants to do, and goes where he wants to go. Last week he made a trip to his home state, not inviting me, and when I suggested going too, he said he didn't think I would feel up to it. I had been ill the week before. When he came home, he spoke of visiting still another daughter in college; and now he wants us to visit her, and to move there. I want to do the right thing, but the shock of finding he has two former wives and two daughters has broken my heart. That's all he had told me, and I haven't questioned him.

I feel his duty is to his present family, as our children are small. I love Jim and he says he loves me.

F.V.

DEAR F. V.: I think you've behaved very well, thus far, in respecting Jim's reserve about his tangled past. It is good that you haven't tried to pry into the story of his marriages and divorces.

I doubt that you could learn anything by probing, that would help the present situation. More likely you'd simply feel more miserable, if you had succeeded in getting him to speak freely about his former wives. In a sense, that would be dragging skeletons out of the grave, and bringing them into the intimacy of your life with him.

In all probability the former wife who telephoned and broke the story was slyly intent on making trouble—whether or not she knows or admits it. She probably has often wondered what is the secret of your 14 years' Christian teamwork with Jim—who couldn't stay harnessed to other women. She

TV To Visit Newsmen in Washington

NEW YORK (AP)—Believing that nearly everybody is fascinated by the reporting and dissemination of news, Wide Wide World (NBC-TV) will visit Washington next Sunday to examine working newsmen and their organization.

Producer Ted Rogers says the program, "Headline City," will show viewers just what it means to be a working newsmen in the world's most newsworthy city.

There was a time when the average newspaper city room was a sacrosanct as a hospital operating room. But no more. Now some even contain glassed observation booths for visitors.

There's a bit of the ham in everybody, but it's a mighty thin slice in today's ablest newsmen.

In general, with the exception of a few half-baked entertainment programs, the medium of television has treated the medium of newsgathering without distortion. Probably the reason is because television is a news medium in itself.

As a result, today's serious newsmen have far greater respect for television's treatment of their profession than yesterday's serious newsmen had for the movies' versions.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Jim and I have been married 14 years and have two children, not yet in their teens. A few months ago I got an awful shock when a woman called and asked for Jim and, as he was out, she told me she was his former wife, and they had been writing and telephoning. I learned that they have a teen-age daughter in college, whom Jim hadn't seen since she was a baby.

When I asked Jim about all this, he said casually that he hadn't wanted to upset me; but he didn't explain further or say he was sorry. It hasn't been mentioned since, and I truly have tried to forgive, and hide my hurt.

We are a Christian family and take part in church and community activities. Jim is a good provider; and doesn't smoke, drink or gamble. But he isn't attentive to the children or me, and never has helped me, not even when they were babies. I am sure he would say I am a good wife and mother.

Sea Captain Now Only 109 Years Young

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Wellington B. Shears was 12 years old when the sheep shears slipped and he cut off the family cat's tail.

He got the only whipping of his life and ran away to sea.

Capt. Shears is celebrating his 109th birthday today at the Riverview Hospital here after a seafaring life ranging from windjambers to modern steamers and from all the seas of the world to the Great Lakes.

Shears was born in a one-room log cabin in Gloucester, Mass., the year of the California gold rush. When he ran away, he joined the British Navy during the American Civil War and served for 40 years.

Retiring in 1905, he opened a marine salvage business in Bay City, Mich., later moving his headquarters to Windsor. For years he was also a captain on the lakes.

In his late 60s he dived 147 feet in Thunder Bay in Lake Superior to free a ship's anchor that had snagged during a storm. As a diver, he lost three fortunes when his ships or equipment were lost to bad weather.

One of his best-known salvage jobs was his recovery of the Vedas from the bottom of Lake Erie. He discovered it had once been a British cruiser in which he had served in Hong Kong.

He gave up regular work in 1935 but continued to make occasional dives until he was 91. Today, he daily smokes one cigar, drinks one glass of whisky and takes little interest in politics or world events.

Unlike many oldsters, Capt. Shears has no advice for the young.

"Every man has to lead his own life and make his own decisions," he declared.

TV To Visit Newsmen in Washington

NEW YORK (AP)—Believing that nearly everybody is fascinated by the reporting and dissemination of news, Wide Wide World (NBC-TV) will visit Washington next Sunday to examine working newsmen and their organization.

Producer Ted Rogers says the program, "Headline City," will show viewers just what it means to be a working newsmen in the world's most newsworthy city.

There was a time when the average newspaper city room was as sacrosanct as a hospital operating room. But no more. Now some even contain glassed observation booths for visitors.

There's a bit of the ham in everybody, but it's a mighty thin slice in today's ablest newsmen.

Voter, 100, Ready

MARION, Ill. (AP)—James (Uncle Jimmy) White, 100, plans to vote in the Illinois primary today to keep intact his record of voting in every election in the last 79 years. He's always voted Democratic.

Dozens of them demonstrate this frequently on television.

A good newsmen respects his profession and he insists that others treat it with respect. In general, with the exception of a few half-baked entertainment programs, the medium of television has treated the medium of newsgathering without distortion. Probably the reason is itself.

As a result, today's serious newsmen have far greater respect for television's treatment of their profession than yesterday's serious newsmen had for the movies' versions.

Appeal Is Planned On Real Estate Rule

COLUMBUS (AP)—Atty. Gen. William Saxbe plans to appeal last week's decision in Franklin County common pleas court which declared new state real estate rules unlawful and invalid.

The rules were based on an improper delegation of power by the General Assembly to the state board of tax appeals. The rules were challenged by Cuyahoga County Auditor John J. Carney.

Shall We Face Problems by Reason Alone?

Ike Said To Ponder Alternative: Mixing Reason with Faith

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower was confronted last week with a question that men have asked in Holy Week for over a thousand years. It is: How shall we face our problems—by reason alone or with reason and faith?

James (Scotty) Reston, chief correspondent in the nation's capital for the New York Times, reports that the issue arose in the very highest organ of the government, the National Security Council, over the Administration's disarmament policy. The specific question was whether the United States should agree to modify its policy in the hope of taking a first step toward world inspection of the arms race. And the ancient question arose: How shall we judge?

The military rested its case on the hard ground of reason and fact. It concentrated on the ponderables. The United States has to continue testing nuclear weapons. Small atomic weapons had to be developed. "Clean" weapons had to be developed. An atomic defense against intercontinental weapons had to be developed. And that was not all.

In military terms the United States and its allies had to develop better and more accurate missiles to stay even with the Soviet Union. The Russians could destroy the heart of Europe and Britain with intermediate-range missiles fired from Eastern Europe or the western borders of the Soviet Union. But the West had to produce longer-range missiles of greater accuracy in order to reach the heart of industrial Russia, which was scattered deep in the Asian hinterland.

The same was true, this argument continued, in the defense of cities. Soviet submarines could destroy most of our cities with comparatively short-range missiles because most of our population lived near the coasts, while the Soviet cities were not near the coasts, but deep inland.

Secretary of State Dulles had a different premise. He did not deny the validity of these ponderables, but argued that the imponderables of life were often a better guide to history. Power alone could not solve our problems. Each new set of weapons would produce another set on the other side. The world was crying for some small break in the arms race. Political considerations could not be ignored.

Here, then, is the ancient question: What must we do to be saved? Is power to be the test? Or does reason have to rely on faith to save it from despair?

A Russian divine, Nicholas Berdyaev, who has had the experience of being punished by both the Czars and the Bolsheviks, stated this issue long ago:

"Things happen in the mind before they are revealed in history. There is something shaken and shattered in the soul of modern man. We are entering the realm of the unknown and unlivable, joylessly and without much hope."

"We are witnessing the end of the Renaissance, and of the humanism which was its spiritual basis. Our faith in man is shaken to foundations. This is a time of spiritual decadence, of loneliness and dereliction."

What then, is the way of escape? Not by power, or materialism, he says, but by faith. "Earthly life is beautiful and valuable only, when one believes in eternal life."

This was the theme of the Easter festival, and perhaps the most important fact in Washington today is that Foster Dulles seems to be coming back to it in the evening of his days.

"Something has gone wrong with our nation," he wrote eight years ago, "or we should not be in our present plight and mood. It is not like us to be on the defensive and to be fearful. This is new in our history . . .

"The trouble is not material . . . What we lack is a righteous and dynamic faith. Without it, all else avails us little . . . Today our military leaders define what they conceive to be strategic areas for military defense . . . We draw a line which, like the Maginot Line, we then fortify as our defense . . .

"The result of this planning in military and economic terms is the staking out of a citadel, which we then try to fortify and provision. We have no affirmative policies beyond, for we cannot go further with material things."

Reston contends that this is precisely where we are now, not under Acheson, whom Dulles was criticizing, but under Dulles himself. The new point is merely that he is apparently coming back to first principles and the great ultimate questions as he enters the eighth decade of his life.

It would be pleasant to say that Washington is rejoicing this Easter, but it isn't, because it has lost its faith and hope. It is actually more pessimistic than the facts justify, for it has been dealing with narrow and tangible things, and hears only vaguely, even at Easter time, the long forgotten echoes of its religious past.

Miami U Offers Scholarships

Emphasis Placed On Math, Science

To help strengthen Ohio schools' teaching of mathematics and science, Miami University is offering 50 scholarships to teachers of those subjects for its 1958 summer session.

The program is intended for teachers who feel the need for additional study in these areas, according to Earl V. Thesken, director of extension and summer session.

Thesken said a recent survey by his office indicates a large percentage of teachers of mathematics or science do not have a major in the subject.

POTO Meet Slated

The Parent-Teachers Group of Darby Twp. will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday in the school gymnasium.

Miami's scholarships will cover the university fees amounting to $40 a term. Recipients will be required to enroll in six semester hours of science and/or mathematics; professional courses may not be included.

Some of the courses specially designed for teachers who already have at least the basic courses may be used as basic in the program Miami started this year for the degree Master of Arts in Teaching.

Darby Seniors Win Turney

The seniors of Darby Twp. High School walked off with first place in the school class basketball tournament held during noon hour for the last several days.

The junior class earned second place and the school faculty team came in third. Sophomores, freshmen and junior high teams also competed.

The champion seniors will receive a trophy for their efforts.

Seniors at Darby Planning Council

Senior students at Darby Twp. are working on a school project of forming a student council.

So far seniors have traveled to Pickaway, Mt. Sterling and Grove City to learn how student councils function at these schools.

Business Down, Costs Increase

Many persons are commenting on a current economic phenomenon — a rising cost of living at a time of lagging employment and consumer purchases.

This would be a phenomenon indeed, but the economic journals are asserting emphatically that it isn't so. The idea of the phenomenon is based on government reports purporting to show the cost of living from month to month. Economic writers say these reports do not reflect the true picture.

Consumers Price Index includes both goods and services. Many of the services, which had lagged behind the pricing structure, lately are catching up. While that is occurring, however, some items in the index have headed downward. Government reports have not yet reflected that.

Purchasing agents know they can buy many items at lower prices than last year. Several mercantile houses have already announced price cuts to take effect over the coming months. Manufacturers are abandoning "fair trade" pricing which had put rigid high prices on many of their products.

All across the land enterprises are cutting out the fat, reducing costs where possible and putting themselves in shape for competitive pricing to spur sluggish consumer demand. That is the traditional pattern when slowness hits the economy.

So in this case at least nothing new at all has been found under the sun.

Keep Junk from Outer Space

A recent quip for which a long life can safely be predicted is the one tossed off the other day by the Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Thomas D. White. "Space," said he, "must not become a flying junk yard."

By that he meant the prospect of satellites, space platforms, and the like, all circling in their orbits, uncoordinated by central authority. He proposed a central management of civilian authority for this country. Doubtless he visualizes an international pact, too, on space and space vehicles.

If the topic is taken up seriously at any "summit meeting" of the near future, the discussion can be only a starter. Science itself has yet to unlock many a door in secret realms of space.

Sometimes a catch phrase can be very effective. "Flying junkyard" calls up a wonderful picture of unlikely objects of all kinds and shapes zipping along, crossing each other's paths—even, by the ultimate off-chance, colliding as many natural space-travelers have done through the ages.

The general is right. Man must try to make sure that space remains as orderly as rocketeer Wernher von Braun describes it as being. "Everything in space," he says "obeys the laws of physics. If man obeys those laws, space will treat him kindly."

General White's epithet and Dr. von Braun's remarks are of a piece, and worth remembering.

The advantage to the United States of the Conservative Party in Canada is that it is likely to be more pragmatic and less doctrinaire than the Liberals.

This country can have no reason for minding if the Canadians seek capital in Great Britain or other countries. There can be no argument over that, except that we expect fair treatment with everybody else.

And another source of capital-building has been the newsprint cartel which charges this country fiendish prices for the paper on which our news is printed.

In 1957, United States citizens invested about $500,000,000 in Canadian securities. Much of this investment went into Canadian companies, which meets the political complaint that American companies own Canadian industries.

Obviously Canada, with its very small population, just twice that of the City of New York, cannot form the capital for the development of its mineral resources and new industries. The best money market for Canada remains the United States, although Diefenbaker hopes to create a boom market for Canadian industrial securities in Great Britain. This he can, of course, do, provided the British can find the dollars.

It is not to be accepted that a nation of 16,000,000 persons will dominate a nation of 170,000,000; equally that a nation with the industrial and military might of the United States will be instructed by a nation with the industrial and military might of Canada. Friendship and cooperation are possible and desirable, but there must be a sense of proportion as well as equity.

Lester Pearson tried to achieve an unrealistic equality between the United States and Canada not only in the United Nations but in all the relations between the United States and Canada. And after a while, his constant buzzing became as annoying as a mosquito on a hot night. He got a Nobel Prize for Peace out of his annoyances, but he could not carry his people along with him.

While Prime Minister Diefenbaker is a nationalist, he is not likely to be a chauvinistic as Lester Pearson has been, nor will he cut off his nose to spite his face. After all, it is United States capital which is building Canada's industries and even much of Canada's home capital is the product of the old bootlegging days when Canada literally poured whisky into a country made thirsty by Prohibition.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IT'S NOT EASY to make people laugh nowadays. George Axelrod, author of "The Seven Year Itch," explained the predicament to Mike Wallace: "Life itself is so satirical, it's hard to satirize it . . . with buffoons way up high in government and the Russians making us look idiotic in some ways. In a grotesque, horrible fashion, life itself seems to have become pretty much of a joke. And you can't make a joke on a joke."

Myself, I think Axelrod is deliberately sounding too much like the spokesman for the "beat generation"—but his words merit earnest consideration.

Lady went to see "West Side Story," the hit musical about teen-age gangs in New York, and pooh-poohed, "What's so original about this one? It's just Booth Tarkington's 'Seventeen' with knives!"

Tough luck for that young cannibal who was kicked out of high school. They caught him buttering up his teachers.

Kill Poison Ivy Now

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

This is a good time to start thinking about poison ivy and a good time to start doing something about it, too.

Leaves of the young poison ivy plant are tender during early spring, so that it is easier to kill the plant with chemicals.

You can identify poison ivy by its leaves which grow in "threes." The berry-like fruit of the plant is white. Other ivy plants, the non-poisonous kind, have blackish purple berries and leaves which are clustered in growths of fives.

To get rid of the poisonous plants near your home — they grow just about anywhere — you can place a light layer of calcium chloride over the entire plant and its roots.

Or, if you wish, you can use some of the newer chemicals to spray the ivy away. Among chemicals which will destroy ivy are Ammato-X and 2, 4-D plus 2, 4, 5-T.

If there are no other plants around which you want to protect, you can use an even more powerful chemical, 2, 4, 5-D.

These chemicals not only destroy the leaves and tops of the plants, but the roots as well.

Another method of destroying the plants is to dig them up and pull out all the roots. This method, however, should be used only in the late fall or winter, when the plants are inactive. Even then you

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cocky Nikita Khrushchev is doing his best to make Americans feel inferior. Ten years ago—if he had talked the way he's talking now—he'd have been laughed at. Not now.

In those 10 years too, the Red Chinese took over all of mainland China and the Communists grabbed off half of Viet Nam. Therefore Khrushchev's boasts have to be listened to with respect.

Only a few months ago—in a TV interview filmed in Moscow for display in this country—Khrushchev told Americans: "Someday your grandchildren will live under socialism."

His latest jibe at Americans came Monday during his tour of Hungary. He said Americans are good people but destined for second place in the race for world economic leadership.

He said: "Now there are only two countries that compete with one another economically, the Soviet Union and the United States of America. England, France, Germany and the so-called advanced capitalist countries have been left far behind."

And he added that in a short time the U.S.S.R. will take the lead.

While the Soviet successes have been a goal to this country to do better, each new Khrushchev boast, followed by a new sign of Soviet progress, cannot but have some effect on American allies abroad.

Ten years ago, when this country still had a monopoly on the atomic bomb and was the undisputed industrial and scientific leader of the world, West Europeans had no reason to doubt their best bet was to line up with the United States.

But since then the Soviets have developed the atomic and hydrogen bombs, demonstrated additionally their tremendous scientific and industrial progress by shooting missile-powered satellites aloft, and expanded economically.

In those 10 years too, the Red Chinese took over all of mainland China and the Communists grabbed off half of Viet Nam. Therefore Khrushchev's boasts have force the West to listen.

Khrushchev has said other things to shake the West's confidence in itself.

"We shall bury you," he told Western diplomats at a reception.

He told West German Chancellor Adenauer: "We Communists will rule the world."

He gave a chilling answer to anyone who thought the Soviets were wondering whether it will get worse.

might abandon communism in their search for prosperity. He told correspondents in Yugoslavia: "If anyone believes our smiles involve abandoning the teaching of Marx, Engels and Lenin, he deceives himself badly. Those who wait for that will wait until the shrimp learns to whistle."

He's doing his boasting now—about the coming superiority of the Soviet economy.

He told West German Chancellor Adenauer: "We Communists will rule the world."

He gave a chilling answer to anyone who thought the Soviets were wondering whether it will get worse.

Once again music was not a feature of this year's Easter parade—though some of the colors on display were loud enough.

Firemen of St. Austell, England, succeeded in removing a cow from the upper branches of a tree. She had fallen from a high embankment and was not—as was first assumed—trying to jump over the moon.

Lana Turner's Daughter, 14, Held in Custody for Hearing

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As Lana Turner sobbed quietly, a judge ordered that the movie star's daughter be held in custody until a hearing April 24 into the knife slaying of Johnny Stompanato.

The ruling was a crushing blow also to 14-year-old Cheryl Crane's father, restaurant man Steve Crane.

Superior Judge Donald A. Odell, presiding jurist of the Juvenile Court, said that he believed it would be best for Cheryl if she were removed from all outside influences.

Cheryl heard the court's decision with head bowed. She was crying softly.

Crane, the second of Lana's four husbands, put his arm around his daughter's shoulder and led her from the room.

Cheryl then was returned to Juvenile Hall, where she has been held since Stompanato, her mother's romantic interest for the past year, met death Friday night in the actress' pink-carpeted bedroom.

Police have said the tall, shy schoolgirl plunged a brand new kitchen knife into the abdomen of the 32-year-old underworld figure in defense of her mother. Investigators described it as the climax of a stormy quarrel that developed because Lana sought to break off her relationship with him.

The body of Stompanato, one-time bodyguard for ex-gambler Mickey Cohen, was sent to Chicago Monday night. Services and burial will be in Woodstock, Ill., Stompanato's home town.

The court has several alternatives at the hearing for Cheryl April 24. She could be freed without reservations; made a ward of the court and released to one of her parents; or she could be made a ward and placed in a private or state institution.

Under California law, there is no definite pronouncement of guilt or innocence in juvenile cases and no fixed sentence.

Attorneys representing Crane and Lana appealed to Judge Odell to release Cheryl. They suggested that if she were not released to one of her parents that she be placed in the custody of her maternal grandmother Mrs. Mildred Turner.

About 30 Pct. Of Pupils Said 'Problem Kids'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — About 30 per cent of the nation's schoolchildren are problem kids of one sort or another. Yet only a handful are getting the special training they need.

Some 2,000 specialists tackled that problem today. They've been wrestling with it for years, and they know there are no easy answers.

The arithmetic alone is staggering. There are some 33½ million children attending grades 1 through 12. Between 3½ and 4 million of these are special cases, whether they are abnormally bright or abnormally dull.

"The gifted student is just as much a problem in our school system today as the dull child," said Dr. Maurice H. Fouracre, president of the International Council for Exceptional Children.

"Both need special courses, special methods and special teachers to develop them to their fullest capacity. We just aren't doing enough for our children at either end of the academic scale."

In the annual five-day convention of the ICEC, the specialists will discuss the problems of bright and dull children, the crippled or otherwise physically handicapped, and the emotionally disturbed. These are the 11 or 12 per cent of the nation's school population below the college level who are considered exceptional.

Another 20 per cent are slow learners, whose unique problems are recognized, but for whom no special study groups have been formed on a national scale.

Only Cleveland Seen Getting Federal Hospital Building Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House appeared today to be moving towards releasing 23 million dollars to build a new hospital near Cleveland.

But for the rest of Ohio, there seems little likelihood for stepped up anti-recession federal spending on hospital construction in the fiscal year starting July 1.

This situation is subject to possible change by the Senate, where a plan to boost this spending has been proposed by Sen. Hill (D-Ala).

The project near Cleveland—now in the design stage—is a 1,000-bed neuropsychiatric Veterans Administration hospital at Brecksville.

VA has asked the Budget Bureau, an arm of the White House, to release 23 million dollars to start construction on this hospital late this year or early next.

In view of the Eisenhower administration's announced plans to spend money already appropriated to relieve unemployment, the chances of this new spending being approved are considered good.

Otherwise, however, spending as approved by the House, on hospitals, will be at about the current rate for Ohio.

This is demonstrated by material on file at the Public Health Service relating to spending on private hospitals and health facilities under New Jersey at a salary of $30,000 a year.

Under this act, the hospitals are put up largely with federal and state money, then turned over to non-profit, private groups.

In response to a questionnaire, the administration of Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill told the health service it could use $46,874,000 in federal funds to start 102 projects of this type.

However, all that was approved by the House for Ohio was about $4,350,000—the present rate.

Actually, the White House originally had wanted to reduce hospital spending in Ohio and elsewhere but changed its mind after the recession became more severe.

Celebrezze Raps O'Neill's 2-Rule Setup

GIRARD, Ohio (AP)—Unleashing his most bitter attack on the Republican state administration, Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze Monday night accused Gov. C. William O'Neill of operating under two sets of rules.

The mayor, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, said O'Neill applied one set of rules to "the working people" and the other to his own decisions as governor.

He told a Democratic rally that the governor was unconcerned about legality when he circumvented the law to hire a highway director from New Jersey at a salary of $30,000 a year.

A ruling by the Ohio attorney general that the state's mental health director was employed illegally also failed to move O'Neill, the mayor added.

"However," Celebrezze continued, "the governor believes that granting of supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB)—something that could be of help to the unemployed—is a legal question that has to be clarified."

Mahoning County Common Pleas Judge Erskine Maiden Jr. has ruled that Ohio's jobless workers may collect SUB without reducing their state unemployment compensation. SUB payments are being delayed, however, pending an appeal by the state. O'Neill says he is powerless to authorize SUB payments.

Celebrezze also criticized O'Neill for "not showing any leadership" in meeting the unemployment problem. He said if he were elected governor he would "attempt to restore confidence in the executive branch of the state government."

U.S. Surplus Feed To Aid Stark County

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Federal surplus food, from stores in Columbus, will go to an estimated 10,000 persons in Stark County, hard hit by industrial layoffs, as soon as a distribution program can be started.

That will be in about two weeks, said Canton Mayor Charles L. Babcock, who also gave the estimate on the number of persons who would benefit.

The program was decided on Monday at a meeting of Babcock, Massillon Mayor Edgar L. Lash and Alliance Mayor Dave Mainwaring with county commissioners and officials in charge of Ohio's surplus food program.

The county welfare agency will distribute the surplus butter, rice, flour, powdered milk and processed cheese. The county will need to pay for packaging and distribution only.

Akron Judge Quits, Poses Poll Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Walter B. Wanamaker's resignation, effective April 30, poses a problem for the Summit County Board of Elections.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today the resignation before the May 6 primary election requires the board to provide spaces on Republican and Democratic ballots for party write-in nominees.

the primary would leave the selection of candidates in the Nov. 4 general election up to county committees of the two parties, Brown said.

Wanamaker, a Republican, submitted his resignation to Gov. C. William O'Neill Monday. The veteran jurist said he would take up private law practice because his $13,000 annual salary as judge is inadequate.

O'Neill will name a replacement to serve until a successor is elected and qualified in November. Judge Wanamaker's term runs to Jan. 2, 1961. The governor said he had no replacement in mind immediately.

Write-in candidates must receive at least 15 per cent of their party vote cast in Summit County primaries to qualify as nominees for the November election, Brown said. If write-in candidates fail to receive the required primary vote, county committees of the two parties can then name their own nominees, he added.

Shall We Face Problems by Reason Alone?

Ike Said To Ponder
Alternative: Mixing Reason with Faith

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower was confronted last week with a question that men have asked in Holy Week for over a thousand years. It is: How shall we face our problems—by reason alone or with reason and faith?

James (Scotty) Reston, chief correspondent in the nation's capital for the New York Times, reports that the issue arose in the very highest organ of the government, the National Security Council, over the Administration's disarmament policy. The specific question was whether the United States should agree to modify its policy in the hope of taking a first step toward world inspection of the arms race. And the ancient question arose: How shall we judge?

The military rested its case on the hard ground of reason and fact. It concentrated on the ponderables. The United States has to continue testing nuclear weapons. Small atomic weapons had to be developed. "Clean" weapons had to be developed. An atomic defense against intercontinental weapons had to be developed. And that was not all.

In military terms the United States and its allies had to develop better and more accurate missiles to stay even with the Soviet Union. The Russians could destroy the heart of Europe and Britain with intermediate-range missiles fired from Eastern Europe or the western borders of the Soviet Union. But the West had to produce longer-range missiles of greater accuracy in order to reach the heart of industrial Russia, which was scattered deep in the Asian hinterland.

The same was true, this argument continued, in the defense of cities. Soviet submarines could destroy most of our cities with comparatively short-range missiles because most of our population lived near the coasts, while the Soviet cities were not near the coasts, but deep inland.

Secretary of State Dulles had a different premise. He did not deny the validity of these ponderables, but argued that the imponderables of life were often a better guide to history. Power alone could not solve our problems. Each new set of weapons would produce another set on the other side. The world was crying for some small break in the arms race. Political considerations could not be ignored.

Here, then, is the ancient question: What must we do to be saved? Is power to be the test? Or does reason have to rely on faith to save it from despair?

A Russian divine, Nicholas Berdyaev, who has had the experience of being punished by both the Czars and the Bolsheviks, stated long ago:

"Things happen in the mind before they are revealed in history. There is something shaken and shattered in the soul of modern man. We are entering the realm of the unknown and unlivable, joylessness and without much hope."

"We are witnessing the end of the Renaissance, and of the humanism which was its' spiritual basis. Our faith in man is shaken to foundations. This is a time of spiritual decadence, of loneliness and dereliction."

What then, is the way of escape? Not by power, or materialism, he says, but by faith. "Earthly life is beautiful and valuable only, when one believes in eternal life."

This was the theme of the Easter festival, and perhaps the most important fact in Washington today is that Foster Dulles seems to be coming back to it in the evening of his days.

"Something has gone wrong with our nation," he wrote eight years ago, "or we should not be in our present plight and mood. It is not like us to be on the defensive and to be fearful. This is new in our history . . ."

"The trouble is not material . . . What we lack is a righteous and dynamic faith. Without it, all else avails us little . . . Today our military leaders define what they conceive to be strategic areas for military defense . . . We draw a line like the Maginot Line, we then fortify as our defense . . ."

"The result of this planning in military and economic terms is the staking out of a citadel, which we then try to fortify and provision. We have no affirmative policies beyond, for we cannot go further with material things."

Reston contends that this is precisely where we are now, not under Acheson, whom Dulles was criticizing, but under Dulles himself. The new point is merely that he is apparently coming back to first principles and the great ultimate questions as he enters the eighth decade of his life.

It would be pleasant to say that Washington is rejoicing this Easter, but it isn't, because it has lost its faith and hope. It is actually more pessimistic than the facts justify, for it has been dealing with narrow and tangible things, and hears only vaguely, even at Easter time, the long-forgotten echoes of its religious past.

AP Guesspert Picks Yanks To Grab Flag Again

Chiso, Bosox Tabbed
For 2-3 Finishes in American Loop Race

By JACK HAND
AP Baseball Expert

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — There is a strong suspicion that the New York Yankees will have more trouble than usual this season, with the Chicago White Sox making a determined challenge. However, the Yankees should have enough to win a ninth American League pennant in 10 years under Manager Casey Stengel.

The Yankees have not looked good in spring training, losing seven of nine games over a recent stretch. In contrast, the Boston Red Sox have been burning up the "grapefruit" league. Chicago's pitching strength is not easily recognized in exhibitions where starters seldom work a complete game.

Detroit has been on a "shake-down cruise" during the spring. Manager Jack Tighe has been sweating out the big move of Harvey Kuenn to centerfield and Billy Martin to shortstop. The Tigers have been bouncing around at the bottom of the exhibition standings but may straighten out when the season opens.

A sore arm that kept Tony Kubek out of action for a week delayed Stengel's experiment of Kubek at short and Gil McDougald at second. Bob Turley and Bob Grim have been hit hard in the games and Tom Sturdivant and Johnny Kucks have been spotty.

Mickey Mantle, having a good spring, is out to regain the triple-batting crown he lost last season.

Bill Skowron, Harry Simpson and Elston Howard are thumping the ball. Howard has been catching exclusively, an indication he will carry more of the load this year, giving Yogi Berra more rest.

The addition of Early Wynn as a solid man in the bullpen has given Manager Al Lopez a lift at Chicago. The White Sox pitching staff already was well manned by Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan and Jim Wilson.

Although Ted Williams did not even appear as a pinch hitter, Boston won 13 of its first 17 games. When Ted gets ready to go on opening day, Manager Mike Higgins will have the best outfield in the league with Williams, Jimmy Piersall and Jackie Jensen.

The Detroit experiment continues with Milt Bolling now available to back up Martin at short if needed. The big punch in the Tiger lineup is Al Kaline. Tighe counts on a batting comeback by Keunn and expects the veteran Jim Hegan to bolster his catching.

Trader Frank Lane is changing the face of the Cleveland club. Larry Doby is back again. So is Minnie Minoso, the big one who got away as a rookie. Lane has been grabbing pitchers off the waiver list to help Herb Score and Bob Lemon. The loss of Vic Wertz who fractured an ankle was a heavy blow to the home run department.

From this perch, it looks like a two-way fight between the Yanks and White Sox, the hitters against the pitchers. Boston could make the grade if the pitching comes through big, especially the left-handers. Detroit has the pitching potential to make it rugged all the way. The others should fight out for positions in the second division.

Here's the way it lines up in this book:

1. New York
2. Chicago
3. Boston
4. Detroit
5. Baltimore
6. Cleveland
7. Kansas City
8. Washington

College Cage Point Output Shows Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — College basketball scoring the past season underwent its sharpest decline in the 66-year history of the game.

This was revealed today with the release of final statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau. The figures showed a 5 percent drop in point production.

The 4,149 major college games in 1957-1958 produced an average of 136.9 points, a game compared with 144.0 average last season. The drop is attributed entirely to less free throws since the average number of field goals a game — 51.6 — was the same as last season.

There was an average of 50.6 free throw attempts this year and 60.6 last season. The collegians also converted 7.1 fewer free throws in the 1957-1958 campaign.

The reduction in scoring is characterized by the fact only eight teams were able to average 80 points or more a game. Last season 24 produced points at this two-minute rate.

Marshall was the nation's offensive leader with an average of 88.0 points a game. Cincinnati led in field goal percentage .480.

3 Rookies, Relief Hurler Said Keys to Indian Success

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Three rookies and a relief pitcher hold the key to a successful season for the Cleveland Indians, Bobby Bragan, Tribe manager, said today.

With the season's opener little more than a week away, Bragan summed up the Indians' prospects:

"The key men are Billy Harrell (third base) and Billy Moran (second base) in the infield and 'Mudcat' Grant and Dick Tomanek among the pitchers."

Catching—"It's solid, more so on paper than at the start of last year."

Outfield—"Also solid, and improved over this time last year." The Indians will rely heavily on two players acquired in trades: left fielder Minnie Minoso, obtained from the Chicago White Sox, and Larry Doby, long-time Indians' center fielder acquired from the Baltimore Orioles.

Infield—"It depends on Moran and Harrell. If they can stand up offensively, the infield will be strong on defense."

Pitching—"The second line pitching concerns me. I don't want to take Ray Narleski out of the bullpen so I'm hoping Grant and Tomanek can come through as starters. They'll be fighting Cal McFadden and Don Ferrarese for the fourth and fifth position." Ferrarese came to Cleveland in the trade that sent Gene Woodling to Baltimore.

Bullpen—"If I have to use Narleski as a starter, Hal Woodenschmidt (obtained from Detroit) and Chuck Churn (obtained from Boston) will become our chief relief pitchers because they have control. Carl Thomas has a chance to work in here, too." Thomas had a 13-13 record at Mobile in the Southern Assn. last year.

Bench—"Against a lefthanded pitcher we have Bobby Avila, Rocky Colavito, J. W. Porter, Dick Brown and Carroll Hardy. And against a righthander we have Preston Ward, Fred Hatfield, Roger Maris, Hal Naragon and Russ Nixon."

Bragan, who made no prediction of where he thinks the Indians will finish this year, listed his probable opening day lineup in batting order:

If Kansas City uses a lefthanded pitcher against the Indians in the opener April 15, Bragan said he would replace Maris with Colavito and use Brown as catcher instead of Nixon. The batting order will remain the same.

THE TRACK team captured its first meet of the season last week at Logan, 58-58. Speedster Junior Denny was top point getter of the day with four firsts.

It will mark the first South Central Ohio League competition for both local teams.

Ed Bailey Fails To Regain Bat Eye

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — Manager Birdie Bettibbons still is a bit concerned about the hitting—or lack of it—of catcher Ed Bailey but he showed no signs of concern today in batting order:

If Kansas City uses a lefthanded pitcher against the Indians in the opener April 15, Bragan said he would replace Maris with Colavito and use Brown as catcher instead of Nixon. The batting order will remain the same.

Softball Loop Opens May 13

Six Teams Slated For Competition

Officials last night decided that the Circleville Softball League will open here May 13 at Ted Lewis Park.

The opening date was set by loop heads and team representatives during a meeting conducted at the local Masonic Temple.

Officials also decided that games will be played on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

Doubleheaders will be scheduled each of these nights with game times set for 7 and 8:15 p.m.

Thursday nights will be utilized for postponed and make up games.

Saturday nights will be held open for exhibition tests. The local Top Hat team, entered in an area intercity league, also will play some of their games here on Saturday.

CURRENTLY it appears that six teams will make up the local league. Circleville Merchants, General Electric and Laurensville are definite entries, while Ashville-Walnut, Williamsport and Kingsman are the other possible three.

Teams outside Pickaway County have shown interest in the league here, but it was decided that area teams would have first priority in joining the loop.

Another meeting will be held April 21 in the Masonic building at 7:30 p.m. Officials will further discuss rules and regulations and attempt to set up a schedule.

Plans call for three rounds of action with one playoff at the end of the third round. Team rosters must be in on or before the date each team is to open play.

Aaron Again Leads Braves in RBIs

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Whip-wristed Henry Aaron has regained the runs-batted-in leadership on the Milwaukee Braves this spring with a total of 21.

Aaron, who drove in two runs of the Braves' three runs at Houston Monday, also led the team in home runs with six, two more than Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock.

Mathews is second in the RBI spring standings with 19.

Outfielder Bob Hazle, the subject of trading rumors, replied handsomely in the last two days by hitting a home run on the only pitch to him Sunday and doubling on the first pitch to him Monday.

Hazle's .403 batting average fired the Braves' pennant drive late last summer when several of the club's regulars were sidelined.

Lowell Ferguson Guest For Child Study League

Lowell Ferguson was guest speaker for the Child Study League of Williamsport when it met in the home of Mrs. William Keller, Wednesday evening. Mr. Ferguson used for his topic "Mother is a Person." He stated "to style your hair you must first consider these things: the hair line, the shape of the face and personal features.

"Not everyone can wear the same styles. The most common problem of hair is being too oily or too much dandruff. The scalp has to breath. Shampoo as needed, once a week or more. Some shampoo helps get rid of the oil. The hair roots need to be tightened, you can do this by pulling the hair gently.

Mr. Ferguson also remarked

County Conferences Slated For Registered Nurses

The first in a series of county conferences for Registered Nurses will take place at 7:30 p.m. on April 12, sponsored by District No. 12, The Ohio State Nurses' Assn., Southern Hotel, Columbus.

Fayette, Fairfield and Pickaway County Nurses will meet in the Banquet Room, Hotel Washington, Washington Court House, 7:30 p.m. Both conferences are open to members and non-members. Franklin County Nurses are cordially invited.

A RED CHIFFON evening gown is Actress Sally Forrest's choice for formal wear. Neckline provides for arm cover-up.

You Look Glamorous In An Evening Gown?

"Nothing," said a suave man-about-town, who's a society party-planner, "is more effective than a red evening gown."

Since he made the remark, we've been studying women at dinner dances and balls. We're convinced he's right.

A red evening gown is the most brilliant, makes black, white and pastel gowns, no matter how elegant, fade out.

A dress that's red and white — we've seen several — is even more effective. One was white with a crimson stole. Another had a white top with a bold red overskirt.

The truth of the matter is that most women don't look as glamorous as they should in dress-up clothes. They lack flair and, surprisingly, pay little attention to whether or not the evening gown's style becomes their figure.

Mrs. Leroy Slusser is general chairman of the social committee. Reservations should be made to Mrs. Slusser, phone 242G.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Goff, Akron, Mr. and Mrs. Bunker, Springfield, and Carl Griffey, Columbus, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Turney Ross, 440 E. Union St.

IF LIPS CHAP, use a pomade to keep them soft. Magically, it will smooth lips in an hour two, leave them pretty.

Some Simple Solutions To Problems of Beauty

Chapped lips are a problem, writes one read.

Well, they needn't be! Use a lip pomade to keep 'em soft and smooth.

Pomades work like magic. An hour or two after you've smoothed them on, lips look lovely again. Feel lovely, too.

What to do about fine hair that looks skimpy? Wash it often—even every other day. There's nothing like a shampoo to fluff out fine hair, make it look thicker and more luxuriant.

Wondering how to keep your hairbrush free of hairs? Invest in one of those tiny wire rakes designed just for this purpose. Run it through the brush and all hairs will be caught on its prongs.

There's a similar gadget for combs. It's a tiny brush you can use to scrub between the comb's teeth and remove soil.

Can't keep powder puffs clean? Try using a rubber sponge instead of puff for powdering. The sponge helps powder cling to the skin and is easily rinsed out in soap and water.

Like to know what to do with a perfume or cologne fragrance that's not exactly a favorite? Instead of using it on your person, pour it off (a few drops at a time) in lingerie rinse water. It will give a light and pleasing scent to underthings.

What to do with old mascara brushes? Clean and keep several. Use them to brush brows into line, to brush petroleum jelly (it provides luster) on brows to scrub away dirt that's marring the sparkle of jewelry, to separate lashes that have just got a coating of mascara.

Pro Cage '5' To Remain In Cincinnati

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. — Pancho Gonzales, world professional tennis champion, carries a lead of 28-23 over Lew Hoad into their second straight match at the County Center tonight.

Gonzales overpowered the Australian Monday night before a crowd of 2,800, winning 6-2, 6-4. In one set match Tony Trabert cut Pancho Segura's lead to 19-15 with an 8-1 victory. They have broken even in four clashes.

Cincinnati sale, the owners went back into concave and emerged to 3 a. m. with the announcement that Minneapolis would remain in the league at least another year.

As for the Cincinnati shift or lack of it, Shapiro shook his head sadly when it was all over and commented:

"You know, I have a feeling I've been used."

After they approved the intra-

Risen, Nichols To Carry Load For Celtics

BOSTON — Arnie Risen and Jack Nichols, a pair of veterans closing out their playing careers, hold keys to Boston playoff hopes now that teammate Bill Russell has been ruled out of further action.

The defending champion Celtics meet St. Louis here Wednesday night in the National Basketball Assn. championship series deadlocked 2-2.

Russell was told he is out of the remainder of the best-of-seven competition because of two torn tendons and a small chip fracture in his sprained right ankle.

Nichols contributed 16 vital points Saturday night. Risen, in his 12th season of NBA competition, is the only player Auerbach has trusted to relieve Russell. Both have announced plans to retire after the playoffs.

Paul Romeo has coached the Syracuse gym team for 11 years.

Nichols, who will graduate from the Tufts University dental school in June, have got to take up the slack. Russell hauled in 69 rebounds and scored 50 points in his two and a fraction games against St. Louis.

Boston defeated St. Louis 109-98 Saturday night without Russell and with 6-1 Bob Cousy playing much of the time in the pivot (24 points, 13 rebounds).

But Coach Red Auerbach doesn't figure he can successfully pull that maneuver twice in a row against the aroused Hawks.

Stengel Reports His Pitchers Ripe

CHARLOTTE, N. C. — Casey Stengel planned to start Whitey Ford as the New York Yankees met the Philadelphia Phillies today in an exhibition game here, and indicated his four starting pitchers were ready for action.

The Yankee manager is expected to give Don Larsen the opening day pitching assignment against the Red Sox at Boston next Tuesday Larsen pitched four-hits ball as he went seven innings against the Phillies Monday, and walked three. New York belted 21 hits and won 20-1 in the game at Greenville, S. C.

Stengel said he believed Ford, Bobby Shantz and Tom Sturdivant also were capable of going the route now.

Lana Turner's Daughter, 14, Held in Custody for Hearing

HOLLYWOOD — As Lana Turner sobbed quietly, a judge ordered that the movie star's daughter be held in custody until a hearing April 24 into the slaying of Johnny Stompanato.

The ruling was a crushing blow also to 14-year-old Cheryl Crane's father, restaurant man Steve Crane.

Superior Judge Donald A. Odell, presiding jurist of the Juvenile Court, said that he believed it would be best for Cheryl if she were removed from all outside influences.

Cheryl heard the court's decision with head bowed. She was crying softly.

Crane, the second of Lana's four husbands, put his arm around his daughter's shoulder and led her from the room.

Cheryl then was returned to Juvenile Hall, where she has been held since Stompanato, her mother's romantic interest for the past year, met death Friday night in the actress' pink-carpeted bedroom.

Police have said the tall, shy schoolgirl plunged a brand new kitchen knife into the abdomen of Lana's daughter.

Akron Judge Quits, Poses Poll Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Common Pleas Judge Walter B. Wanamaker's resignation, effective April 30, poses a problem for the Summit County Board of Elections.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today the resignation before the May 6 primary election requires the board to provide spaces on Republican and Democratic ballots for party write-in nominees for the unexpired term.

The difficulty is that already-printed ballots provide no space for write-in votes, officials explained.

Brown said he advised the board that it can print separate ballots for party write-in candidates, or Judge Wanamaker could make his resignation effective after the primary election. Resignation after the primary would leave the selection of candidates in the Nov. 4 general election up to county committees of the two parties, Brown said.

Wanamaker, a Republican, submitted his resignation to Gov. C. William O'Neill Monday. The veteran jurist said he would take up private law practice because his $13,000 annual salary as judge is inadequate.

O'Neill will name a replacement to serve until a successor is elected and qualified in November. Judge Wanamaker's term runs to Jan. 2, 1961. The governor said he had no replacement in mind immediately.

Write-in candidates must receive at least 15 per cent of their party vote cast in Summit County primaries to qualify as nominees for the November election, Brown said. If write-in candidates fail to receive the required primary vote, county committees of the two parties can then name their own nominees, he added.

About 30 Pct. Of Pupils Said 'Problem Kids'

KANSAS CITY — About 30 per cent of the nation's schoolchildren are problem kids of one sort or another. Yet only a handful are getting the special training they need.

Some 2,000 specialists tackled that problem today. They've been wrestling with it for years, and they know there are no easy answers.

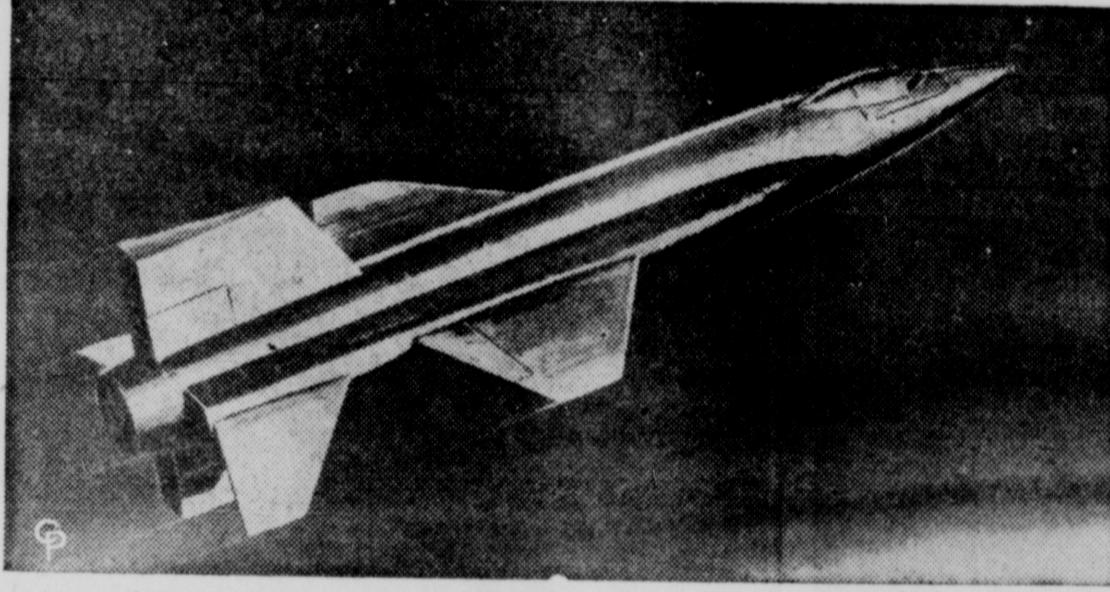

The arithmetic alone is staggering. There are some 33½ million children attending grades 1 through 12. Between 3½ and 4 million of these are special cases, whether they are abnormally bright or abnormally dull.

"The gifted student is just as much a problem in our school system today as the dull child," said Dr. Maurice H. Fournier, president of the International Council for Exceptional Children.

"Both need special courses, special methods and special teachers to develop them to their fullest capacity. We just aren't doing enough for our children at either end of the academic scale."

In the annual five-day convention of the ICEC, the specialists will discuss the problems of bright and dull children, the crippled or otherwise physically handicapped, and the emotionally disturbed. These are the 11 or 12 per cent of the nation's school population below the college level who are considered exceptional.

Another 20 per cent are slow learners, whose unique problems are recognized, but for whom no special study groups have been formed on a national scale.

Only Cleveland Seen Getting Federal Hospital Building Aid

WASHINGTON — The White House appeared today to be moving towards releasing 23 million dollars to build a new hospital near Cleveland.

But for the rest of Ohio, there seems little likelihood for stepped up anti-recession federal spending on hospital construction in the fiscal year starting July 1.

This situation is subject to possible change by the Senate, where a plan to boost this spending has been proposed by Sen. Hill (D-Ala).

The project near Cleveland—now in the design stage—is a 1,000-bed neuropsychiatric Veterans Administration hospital at Brecksville.

VA has asked the Budget Bureau, an arm of the White House, to release 23 million dollars to start construction on this hospital late this year or early next.

In view of the Eisenhower administration's announced plans to spend money already appropriated to relieve unemployment, the chances of this new spending being approved are considered good.

Otherwise, however, spending as proposed by the House, on hospitals, will be at about the current rate for Ohio.

This is demonstrated by material on file at the Public Health Service relating to spending on private hospitals and health facilities under the Hill-Burton Act.

Under this act, the hospitals are put up largely with federal and state money, then turned over to non-profit, private groups.

In response to a questionnaire, the administration of Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill told the health service it could use $46,874,000 in federal funds to start 102 projects of this type.

However, all that was approved by the House for Ohio was about $4,350,000—the present rate.

Actually, the White House originally had wanted to reduce hospital spending in Ohio and elsewhere but changed its mind after the recession became more severe.

Celebreze Raps O'Neill's 2-Rule Setup

GIRARD, Ohio — Unleashing his most bitter attack on the Republican state administration, Cleveland Mayor Anthony J. Celebreze Monday night accused Gov. C. William O'Neill of operating under two sets of rules.

The mayor, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, said O'Neill applied one set of rules to "the working people" and the other to his own decisions as governor.

He told a Democratic rally that the governor was unconcerned about legality when he circumvented the law to hire a highway director from New Jersey at a salary of $30,000 a year.

A ruling by the Ohio attorney general that the state's mental health director was employed illegally also failed to move O'Neill, the mayor added.

"However," Celebreze continued, "the governor believes that granting of supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB)—something that could be of help to the unemployed—is a legal question that has to be clarified."

Mahoning County Common Pleas Judge Ernestine Maiden Jr. has ruled that Ohio's jobless workers may collect SUB without reducing their state unemployment compensation. SUB payments are being delayed, however, pending an appeal by the state. O'Neill says he is powerless to authorize SUB payments.

Celebreze also criticized O'Neill for "not showing any leadership" in meeting the unemployment problem. He said if he were elected governor he would "attempt to restore confidence in the executive branch of the state government."

U.S. Surplus Feed To Aid Stark County

CANTON, Ohio — Federal surplus food, from stores in Columbus, will go to an estimated 10,000 persons in Stark County, hard hit by industrial layoffs, as soon as a distribution program can be started.

That will be in about two weeks, said Canton Mayor Charles L. Babcock, who also gave the estimate on the number of persons who would benefit.

The program was decided on Monday at a meeting of Babcock, Massillon Mayor Edgar L. Lash and Alliance Mayor Dave Mainwaring with county commissioners and officials in charge of Ohio's surplus food program.

The county welfare agency will distribute the surplus butter, rice, flour, powdered milk and processed cheese. The county will need to pay for packaging and distribution only.

Cheer Up! Almost All the World Has Tax Headaches

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Association
Correspondent
WASHINGTON—Dear Mr. American Taxpayer:

If you are facing another April 15 income tax deadline in the belief that you're paying the highest taxes in the world, cheer up. You're probably right, but things could be worse.

Americans are hopeful that Congress will reduce taxes this year, but even if this happy event does not occur, you still are better off taxwise, in many ways, than the poor stiff who pays taxes abroad.

In Formosa, for example, the Nationalist Chinese taxpayer pays taxes on all salaries and wages over $37 a year. In the United States, a single man doesn't pay a tax on his first $670.

In the United States, there is a

3 Officers Accused in Boy's Death

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Cincinnati policeman and two park patrolmen have been charged with murder in the shooting a week ago of a 14-year-old Negro boy. But the victim's father said he did not read the warrant which was filed in his name.

"I didn't read the warrant. I thought it was a citation or something," Abe Savage Sr., told newsmen Monday night.

Earlier, Cincinnati Patrolman Raymond Turner and Park Patrolmen Louis Meiners and Norbert Tieke had been arrested on murder warrants signed by Savage in connection with the death of his son, Abe.

The boy was shot to death March 31 as he fled from policemen in a wild chase through city streets and into Eden Park. Police had started chasing the boy when he drove through a red traffic light. Officers said he refused to stop and went through three police barricades.

Eleven shots were fired. Officers said they thought they were chasing a stolen car. The car was owned by the boy's father.

The elder Savage said he signed the warrants against the officers on the advice of his attorney as "the only way to bring them to court."

Park Police Capt. Emmet Lyons said Meiners and Tieke would be allowed to continue work pending disposition of the charges.

Police Chief Stanley Schrotel said no action would be taken against Turner until he has an opportunity to study the case.

$600 exemption for each minor child. In West Germany, the exemption is only $143; in Great Britain, $280 to $420 (with no exemption allowed if the child has an income of $238 a year); in France, $12 a year for each of the first two children and $36 for each additional child, and in the Philippines, $300.

The pattern is the same elsewhere. A survey of income taxes in foreign countries revealed that while in many respects American taxes are higher, in some they are lower.

A comparison of rates paid in the U.S. with those in various foreign nations provides a good idea of the situation existing.

In the United States, a single person does not pay tax on the first $670, while married persons begin paying taxes at $1,340 a year. The first $2,000 of taxable income is taxed at 20 per cent.

The rate rises to 91 per cent on taxable income in excess of $200,000, with an overall rate limitation of 87 per cent of taxable income. However, a word of caution here: No one actually pays 87 per cent. After deductions and exemptions are taken, it's usually considerably less.

In Great Britain, the individual tax ranges from 11½ per cent on the first $168 of taxable income to 92½ per cent on income in excess of $42,000 a year. In Canada, the graduated tax ranges from 13 per cent on the first $1,000 of taxable income to 78 per cent on taxable income in excess of $400,000.

In New Zealand, the levy is 15 per cent on the first $280 of taxable income. The rates are increased by 1¼ per cent for each additional $280 of taxable income, up to $10,080, when the tax is $3,75. Everything in excess of $10,080 is taxed at 60 per cent.

In West Germany, the tax varies from 30 per cent to 55 per cent. The maximum rate was 70 per cent up to 1953.

In Argentina, the basic rate is seven per cent of taxable income, plus a surtax ranging from two per cent on taxable income over $267 a year to $40,400 plus 43 per cent on taxable income in excess of $107,000 a year.

In Cuba, the individual income tax ranges from one per cent to 30½ per cent, depending on the taxpayer's source and amount of income.

In Haiti, an income tax is applied to all net profits and revenue realized in Haiti from labor, real and personal property, commerce and industry, agriculture, salaries, interest and other periodical gains.

The rate changes from five per cent on amounts up to $3,000 a year to 30 per cent on amounts over $40,000.

In Israel, the tax on assessable income, after allowing deductions, is progressive up to 50 per cent.

In Italy, an income tax must be paid by every individual who has any income whatsoever. Its rates vary in accordance with the source of income, from a minimum of four per cent on salaries and pensions of government personnel to a maximum of approximately 28 per cent on income derived from capital investments.

In Japan, the top bracket income tax rate is 70 per cent for net incomes of more than $138,888 a year. In Panama, the rates range from two per cent on net incomes of $900 to $2,400 a year; two and a half per cent on the excess up to $3,600; 31 per cent on the excess up to $1,000,000 and 34 per cent on $10,000,000.

In the Soviet Union, an income tax is levied on laborers, employees and persons occupied in the "free professions." A graduated tax is imposed on unmarried persons and childless couples or couples with less than two children, unless a lack of capacity can be proved. Exceptions are made for students under 25, those in active military service, and their wives.

In Spain, there is a tax of tight to 15 per cent on the profits arising

500-Pound Bear Offered Just for Free

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—Been looking for a pet lately to keep the little kiddies happy?

A 500-pound bear, for example? Then call Marvin Nungester, Hocking County game protector. He has one for you.

The big lumbering animal (he's six feet tall when he stands up) has been hanging around Ash Cave Park about 15 miles southwest of here at least since last Thursday when a fire station operator spotted him.

Nungester said the bear probably was a pet who simply grew too big for the owners to keep. The bear has chain marks around his neck.

He's a pleasant beast says Nungester. Over the weekend an estimated 2,000 curious spectators came to see the bear. Some of them gave him candy, petted him and even put a rope over his neck. Bruin just takes it all in.

The bear is also shrewd, says the game protector. He's been keeping pretty close to the Wesley Chapel Road just off Ohio 374 apparently because that's where he's been getting food from the onlookers.

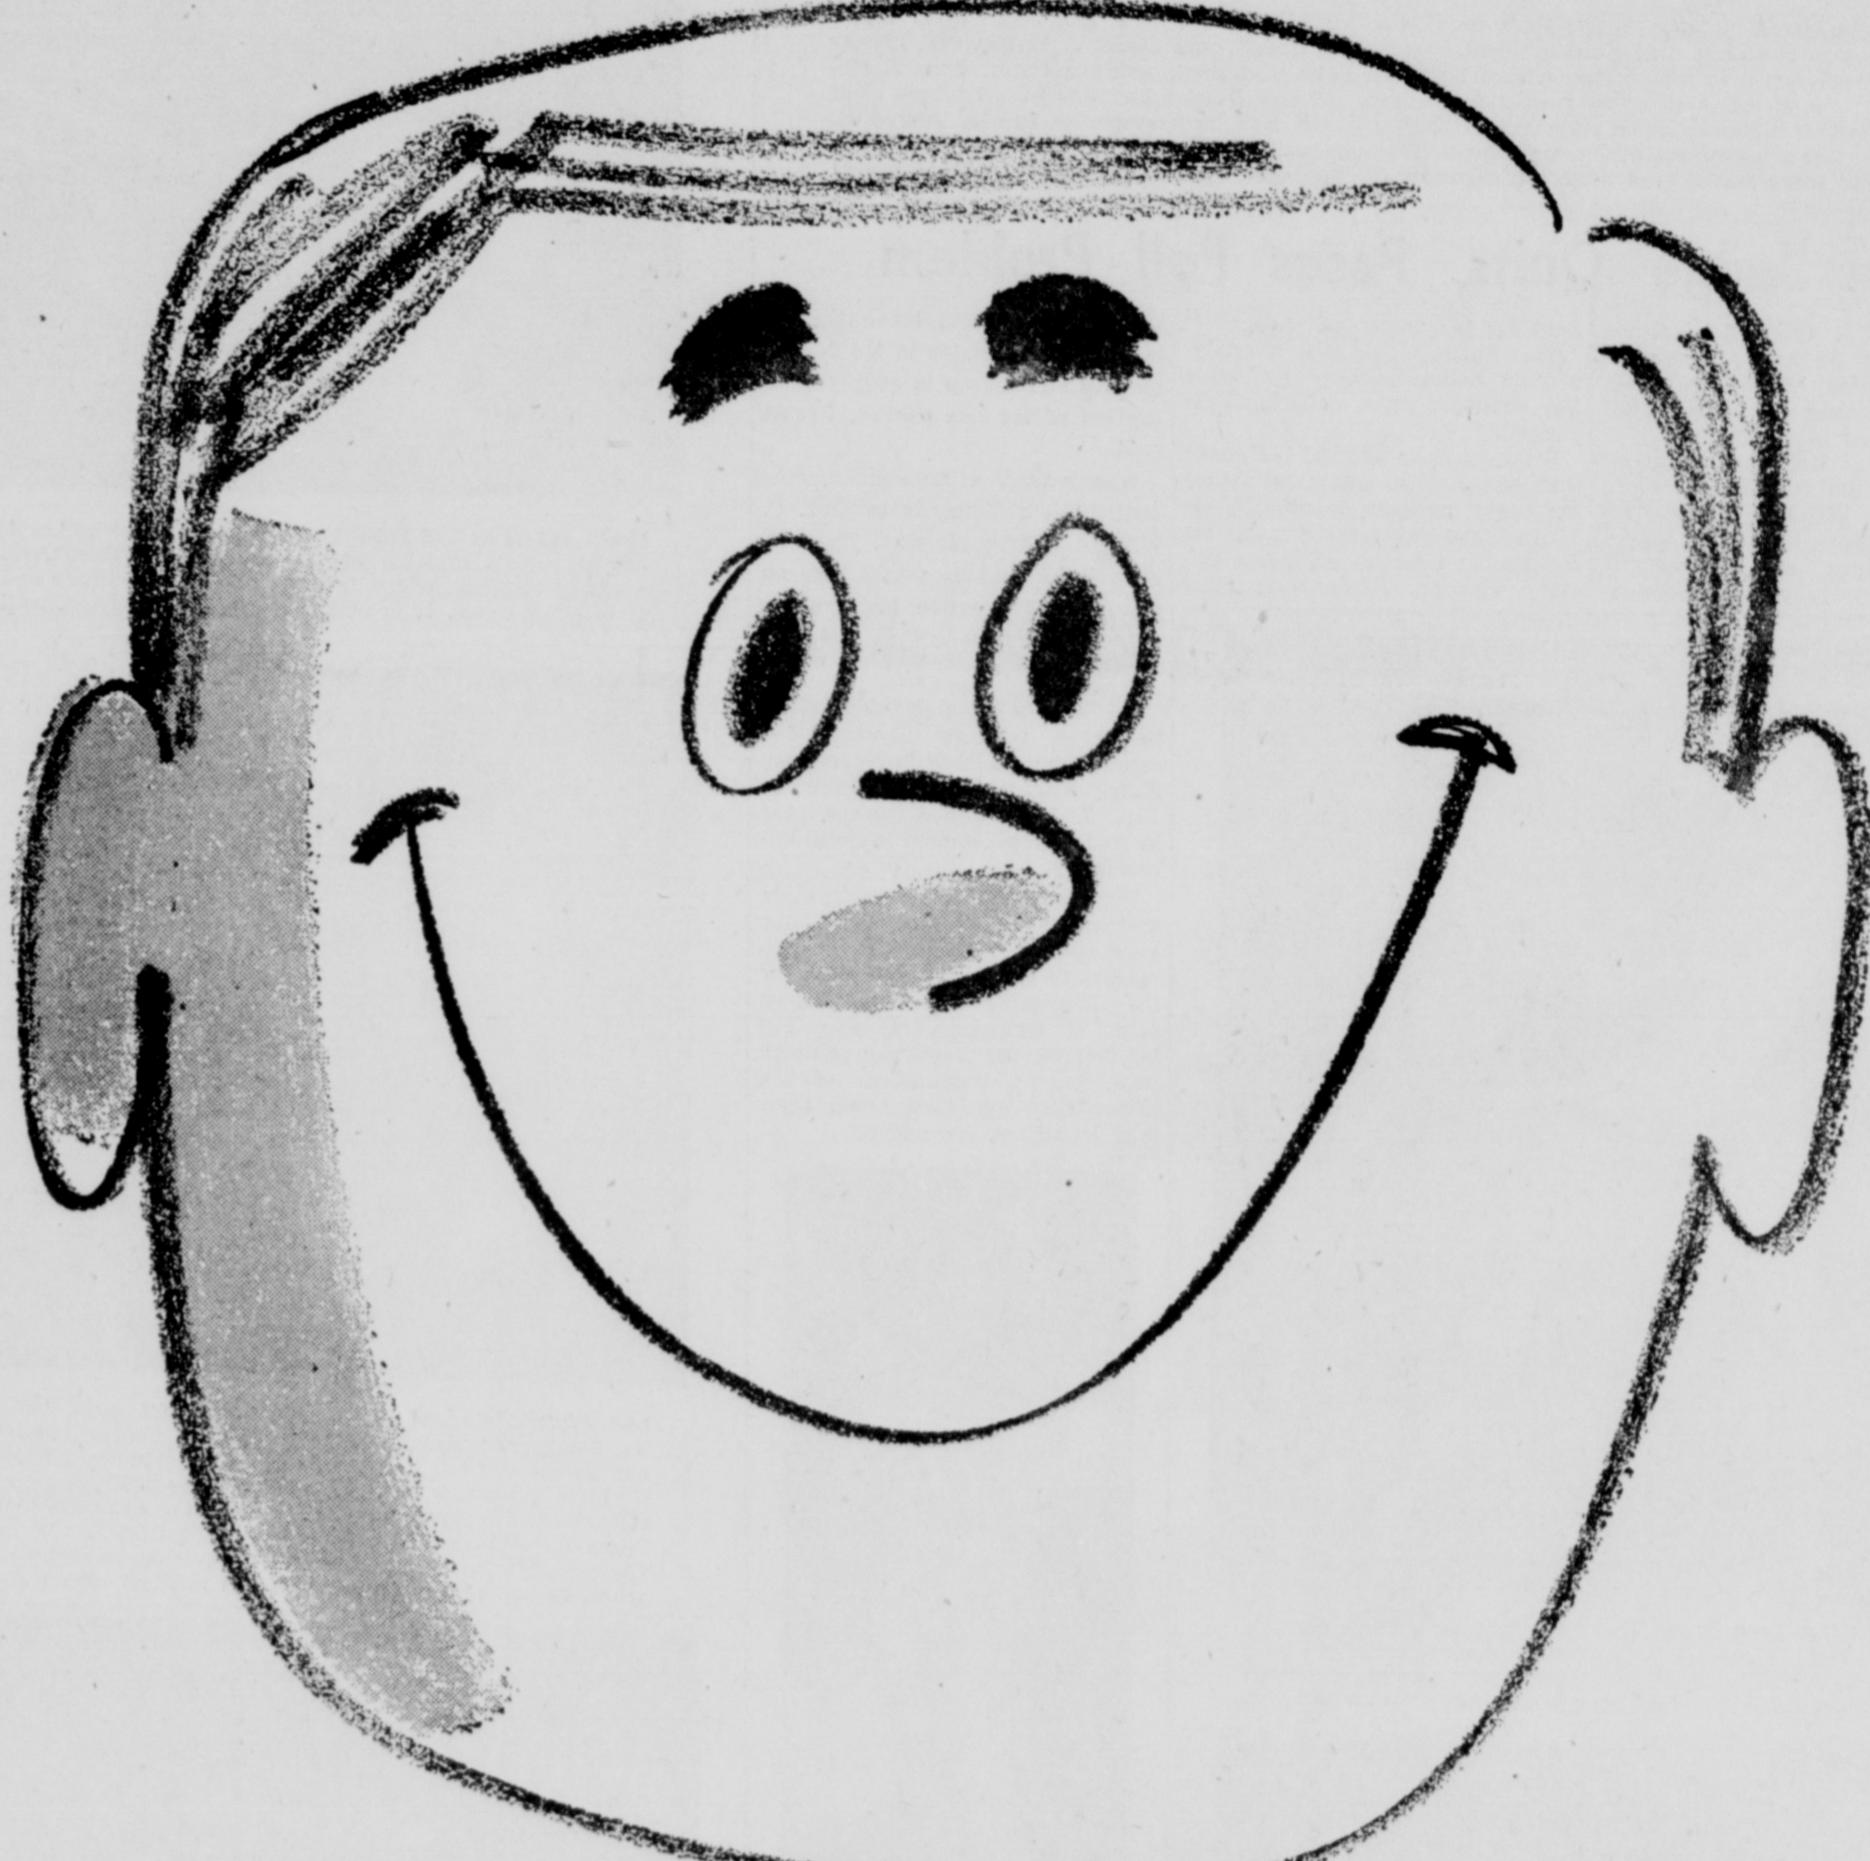

Nungester says he's been trying to find a home for the bear but that no one seems to want the animal, not even the Columbus Zoo. If a home can't be found soon, Nungester says, the beast will have to be destroyed.

And that would be a shame, the game protector said. He's such a pleasant bear.

AP Baseball Expert

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — There is a strong suspicion that the New York Yankees will have more trouble than usual this season, with the Chicago White Sox making a determined challenge. However, the Yankees should have enough to win a ninth American League pennant in 10 years under Manager Casey Stengel.

The Yankees have not looked good in spring training, losing seven of nine games over a recent stretch. In contrast, the Boston Red Sox have been burning up the "grapefruit league." Chicago's pitching strength is not easily recognized in exhibitions where starters seldom work a complete game.

Detroit has been on a "shake-down cruise" during the spring. Manager Jack Tighe has been sweating out the big move of Harvey Kuenn to centerfield and Billy Martin to shortstop. The Tigers have been bouncing around at the bottom of the exhibition standings but may straighten out when the season opens.

A sore arm that kept Tony Kubek out of action for a week delayed Stengel's experiment of Kubek at short and Gil McDougald at second. Bob Turley and Bob Grim have been hit hard in the games and Tom Sturdivant and Johnny Kucks have been spotty.

Mickey Mantle, having a good spring, is out to regain the triple-batting crown he lost last season.

Bill Skowron, Harry Simpson and Elston Howard are thumping the ball. Howard has been catching exclusively, an indication he will carry more of the load this year, giving Yogi Berra more rest.

The addition of Early Wynn as a solid man in the bullpen has given Manager Al Lopez a lift at given Manager Al Lopez a lift at Chicago. The White Sox pitching staff already was well manned by Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan and Jim Wilson.

Although Ted Williams did not even appear as a pinch hitter, Boston won 13 of its first 17 games. When Ted gets ready to go on opening day, Manager Mike Higgins will have the best outfield in the league with Williams, Jimmy Piersall and Jackie Jensen.

The Detroit experiment continues with Milt Bolling now available to back up Martin at short if needed. The big punch in the Tiger lineup is Al Kaline. Tighe counts on a batting comeback by Keuhn and expects the veteran Jim Hegan to bolster his catching.

Trader Frank Lane is changing the face of the Cleveland club. Larry Doby is back again. So is Minnie Minoso, the big one who got away as a rookie. Lane has been grabbing pitchers off the waiver list to help Herb Score and Bob Lemon. The loss of Vic Wertz who fractured an ankle was a heavy blow to the home run department.

From this perch, it looks like a two-way fight between the Yanks and White Sox, the hitters against the pitchers. Boston could make the grade if the pitching comes through big, especially the left-handers. Detroit has the pitching potential to make it rugged all the way. The others should fight it out for positions in the second division.

Here's the way it lines up in this book:

1. New York
2. Chicago
3. Boston
4. Detroit
5. Baltimore
6. Cleveland
7. Kansas City
8. Washington

College Cage Point Output Shows Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball scoring the past season underwent its sharpest decline in the 66-year history of the game.

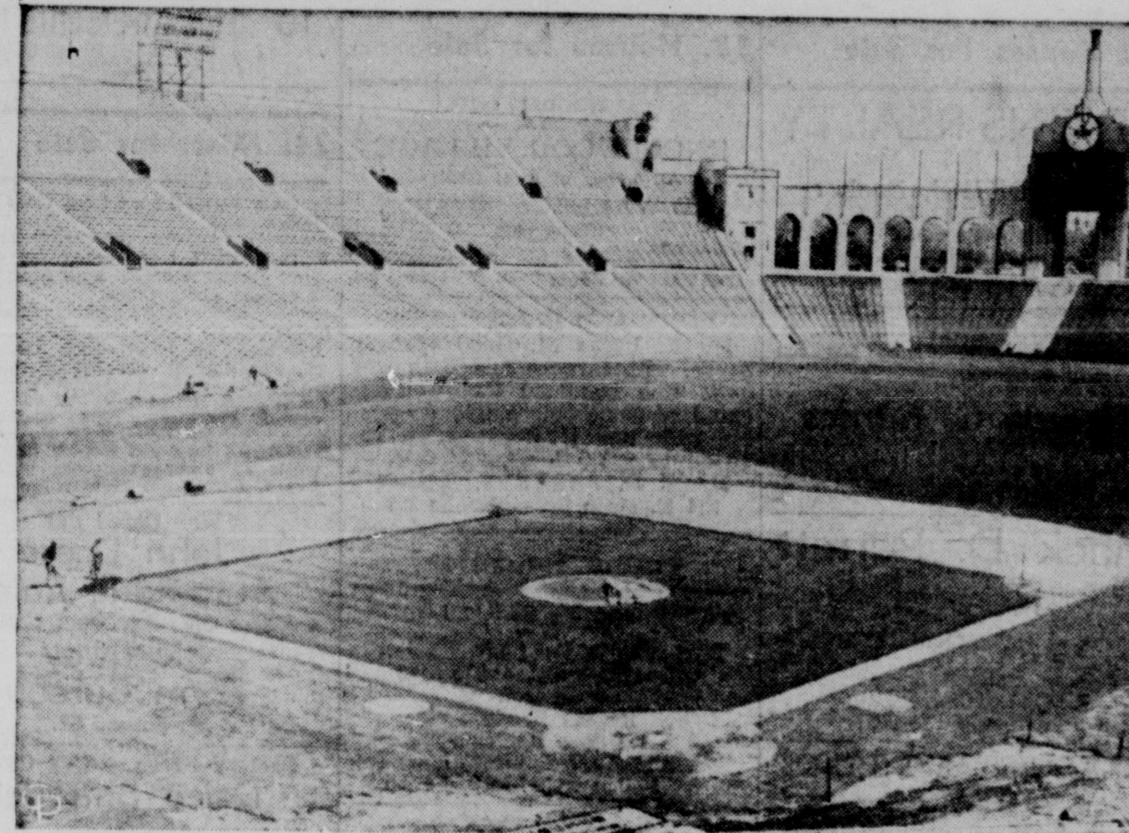

This was revealed today with the release of final statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau. The figures showed a 5 per cent drop in point production.

The 4,149 major college games in 1957-1958 produced an average of 136.9 points, a game compared with 144.0 average last season. The drop is attributed entirely to less free throws since the average number of field goals a game—51.6—was the same as last season.

There was an average of 50.6 free throw attempts this year and 60.6 last season. The collegians also converted 7.1 fewer free throws in the 1957-1958 campaign.

The reduction in scoring is characterized by the fact only eight teams were able to average 80 points or more a game. Last season 24 produced points at this two-a-minute rate.

Marshall was the nation's offensive leader with an average of 88.0 points a game. Cincinnati led in field goal percentage .480.

3 Rookies, Relief Hurler Said Keys to Indian Success

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Three rookies and a relief pitcher hold the key to a successful season for the Cleveland Indians, Bobby Bragan, Tribe manager, said today.

With the season's opener little more than a week away, Bragan summed up the Indians' prospects:

"The key men are Billy Harrell (third base) and Billy Moran (second base) in the infield and Mudcat Grant and Dick Tomanek among the pitchers."

Tiger Teams Set Action For Today

Circleville High School's baseball and track teams are slated for action today with Franklin Heights, Columbus.

The schedule calls for the FHS hardballers to come here while Coach Tom Bennett's cindermen travel to Columbus for an engagement.

The CHS diamond nine will be seeking its third win in four starts. After dropping an extra inning 3-2 game to Chillicothe Wednesday, the locals came back to grab a doubleheader at Logan Saturday.

Mike Hosler probably will get the mound nod today. Coach Dick Boyd said Don Rowland is the likely choice when Chillicothe comes here for a return engagement Wednesday.

THE TRACK team captured its first meet of the season last week at Logan, 59-58. Speedster Junior Denny was top point getter of the day with four firsts.

It will mark the first South Central Ohio League competition for both local teams.

Ed Bailey Fails To Regain Bat Eye

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbets still is a bit concerned about the hitting—or lack of it—of catcher Ed Bailey but he showed no signs of concern today with rookie Vada Pinson.

Bailey, the No. 1 catcher for the Redlegs last year, has found the hits few and far between in spring training. And he failed to get a safe blow Monday as the Redlegs dropped a 7-3 decision to the Washington Senators at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Pinson, the sensation of the Redleg spring training camp, got two hits and one of those was a homer. The 19-year-old youngster's performance made it even more sure he would play right field.

If Kansas City uses a lefthanded pitcher against the Indians in the opener April 15, Bragan said he would replace Maris with Colavito and use Brown as catcher instead of Nixon. The batting order will remain the same.

Softball Loop Opens May 13

Six Teams Slated For Competition

Officials last night decided that the Circleville Softball League will open here May 13 at Ted Lewis Park.

The opening date was set by loop heads and team representatives during a meeting conducted at the local Masonic Temple.

Officials also decided that games will be played on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Doubleheaders will be scheduled each of these nights with game times set for 7 and 8:15 p.m.

Thursday nights will be utilized for postponed and make up games. Saturday nights will be held open for exhibition tests. The local Top Hat team, entered in an area intercity league, also will play some of their games here on Saturday.

Outfield—"Also solid, and improved over this time last year." The Indians will rely heavily on two players acquired in trades—left fielder Minnie Minoso, obtained from the Chicago White Sox, and Larry Doby, long-time Indians' center fielder acquired from the Baltimore Orioles.

Infield—"It depends on Moran and Harrell. If they can stand up offensively, the infield will be strong on defense."

Pitching—"The second line pitching concerns me. I don't want to take Ray Narleski out of the bullpen so I'm hoping Grant and Tomanek can come through as starters. They'll be fighting Cal McLish and Don Ferrarese for the fourth and fifth position." Ferrarese came to Cleveland in the trade that sent Gene Woodling to Baltimore.

Bullpen—"If I have to use Narleski as a starter, Hal Wooschick (obtained from Detroit) and Chuck Churn (obtained from Boston) will become our chief relief pitchers because they have control. Carl Thomas has a chance to work in here, too." Thomas had a 13-13 record at Mobile in the Southern Assn. last year.

Aaron Again Leads Braves in RBIs

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Whip-wristed Henry Aaron has regained the runs-batted-in leadership on the Milwaukee Braves this spring with a total of 21.

Aaron, who drove in two runs of the Braves' three runs at Houston Monday, also led the team in home runs with six, two more than Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock. Mathews is second in the RBI spring standings with 19.

Outfielder Bob Hazle, the subject of trading rumors, replied handsomely in the last two days by hitting a home run on the only pitch to him Sunday and doubling on the first pitch to him Monday. Hazle's .403 batting average fired the Braves' pennant drive late last summer when several of the club's regulars were sidelined.

If Kansas City uses a lefthanded pitcher against the Indians in the opener April 15, Bragan said he would replace Maris with Colavito and use Brown as catcher instead of Nixon. The batting order will remain the same.

The race horse Bold Ruler is known around track barns by the nickname "Bo-Bo."
